Software Maintenance Agreements Available for Both Levels

ZoomText seamlessly integrates magnification and speech output into a total low-vision package. ZoomText gives you access to all your Windows 98/ME/NT/2000/XP programs. With two product levels to choose from, ZoomText meets your vision needs at affordable prices. One is a screen magnifier that includes 2x to 16x magnification, full and partial-screen zoom windows, advanced edge-smoothing and color filtering. The other includes all the above large print features with the addition of reading functions that speak all graphical interfaces, text and screen components.

ZoomText Magnifier/Screenreader provides two ways of reading documents, web pages and emails. The AppReader provides continuous reading within the parent application programs. You can automatically read through the entire document or manually navigate by word, line, or sentence. The DocReader reads text from the last active application. DocReader provides continuous reading in a special environment where text is reformatted for easier viewing.
